State Department Prepares To Give Lease-Lend Aid To Free French Forces

Germany Using Anti-Communist Propaganda To Swing French Capitulation

BY KINGSBURY SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—Direct American lease-lend aid to the Free French forces of General Charles De Gaulle is likely if the Vichy government of France permits Germany to use French African bases, informed quarters said today.

Considering Steps

With events in Vichy taking what American officials regard as a grave turn for the worse, the state department is considering steps this government can take to off-set the virtually complete French capitulation to German demands which now seems imminent.

Hitherto, the American government has been reluctant to grant direct lease-lend aid to the Free French forces for fear such action might infuriate Marshal Henri Pétain to the point where he would acquiesce to the German demands for complete French collaboration with the Axis.

However, diplomatic advisers now indicate that the aged Marshal is about to give way to the German demands and agree to Germany's participation in Germany's "new order" in Europe. If such proves the case, and Pétain consents to German use of French African bases, this government, it was indicated, no longer will feel restrained concerning the advisability of direct aid to the Free French forces.

Opening Wedge

Reports that the proposed new collaboration agreement provides for the granting of port facilities and transport privileges to Germany in French African territory are regarded here as the opening wedge to German use of those bases for military and naval operations against Great Britain.

The moment such concessions are granted the Germans, this government is likely to start sending direct aid to the Free French forces in Africa. Such direct American aid has been urged upon the state department for sometime by Rene Pleven, American representative of the Free French movement.

The Free French at present are obliged to depend upon the British for their supplies. They feel direct American aid not only would serve a practical effect in strengthening

Japanese Take Another Step In Direction Of War

Decide To Invoke Full Provisions Of National General Mobilization Act

PLAN TO CONTROL STOCK EXCHANGE

(International News Service) TOKYO, Aug. 11.—The Japanese government took another long step forward today on the road toward complete preparation for "the worst".

The official Japanese (Domei) news agency said the government has decided to invoke the full provisions of the national general mobilization act, including state control of the stock exchange.

Invocation of the stock exchange provision would give the government rigid control over all stock trading and speculative activities.

The government reached this new decision as tension increased throughout the Far East.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—Driving to speed action on the controversial army extension bill by tomorrow night, house leaders today announced that the lower chamber will meet two hours earlier than usual tomorrow to begin balloting on amendments.

The announcement came as the house met only briefly today and adjourned without doing any business out of respect for Rep. Rutherford B. Pa., who died yesterday.

While Speaker Rayburn (D, Tex.) predicted that the bill to extend the service of draftees, reservists and

Antagonism Of Secretary Hughes May Result In Bill Being Axed

MILK CONTROL BILL ALSO IS IN DOUBT

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Aug. 11.—The controversial big truck and Moulding bills will be acted upon by Gov. Arthur H. James within the next four days as the chief executive cleans up the 299 bills left him by the legislature before the constitutional 30-day deadline expires.

All the bills will be taken care of by Thursday, the governor stated. After that he will leave for his vacation.

Bills In Doubt

Although the governor has given no indication as to what action he will take on the two bills, the big truck bill appeared to stand better than an even chance of being vetoed, with the governor's action on the dairy regulation bill apparently by a toss-up.

In addition to these two bills, others

Two Young Men Drowned In Lake

(International News Service) GENEVA-ON-THE-LAKE, O., Aug. 11.—The rough, wind-lashed waters of Lake Erie had claimed two more victims today—two Carnegie, Pa., boys who were drowned as they took their "last swim" before returning to their Pittsburgh district homes.

Jack Hayes, 17 and Peter Sembrat, 21, lost their lives in the rolling waves despite the heroic efforts of two companions to save them.

One youth, William Kelly, 21, of Rennerd almost perished too, as Sembrat pulled him under water. The boys' bodies were washed ashore later in the afternoon and returned to Carnegie for burial.

DAY'S WAR DEVELOPMENTS

(International News Service) After seven weeks of the bloodiest, most titanic conflict in the history of the world, Germany and Russia continued to fight savagely along the far-flung eastern front today as the Russo-German war roared into its eighth week.

The past few weeks have been marked by widely divergent claims and counter-claims from the rival high commands, but Moscow admitted today that Adolf Hitler's mechanized legions had scored advances on the southern and northern fronts.

Berlin jubilantly predicted the rapid disintegration of Soviet defenses and the imminent capture of Odessa, strategic Black sea port.

It was denied, however, that the Soviets threatened to invoke clause six of the Iran-Soviet treaty of 1921, under which the Soviet army is entitled to cross to Iran should "any nation try to turn Iran into a military base for action against Russia."

(International News Service) BANGKOK, Thailand, Aug. 11.—Nation-wide radio broadcasts informed Thais today that the government will use every possible means of annihilating any force that invades Thailand—including poison gas.

The radio announcement said any invader who might succeed in overrunning the country would find the territory a "vast cemetery of the Thai nation."

Tension Rises

The broadcast was made as tension rose rapidly in the Far East, with Japanese troops massed on the Thailand-Indo-China borders and British forces on the Thailand-Malaya frontiers.

The Thai radio broadcast stated in part:

"That forces will not yield an inch of territory."

"They will use every possible means of annihilation and adopt all tactics, including the most severe form of scorched earth policy and—if need be—gas."

"Thailand will die to the last man rather than surrender their freedom to any invader."

Truck Plant Down As Workers Strike

Mack Truck Plant At Allentown Strikebound By CIO Affiliate

(International News Service) ALLENTOWN, Pa., Aug. 11.—A strike was called today at the giant plant of the Mack Manufacturing company, which employs 4,700 workers and has defense contracts for trucks and tank parts totaling several millions of dollars.

Officials of the United Automobile Workers, a C. I. O. affiliate, claimed the walk-out was 100 per cent effective and that the plant was completely shut down.

With the strike delaying vital truck production for the U. S. army, federal and state conciliators were using every means at their command to settle the wage dispute between the company and union officials. The union is requesting 15 cents an hour increase and a retroactive clause making any salary increases effective as of August 8.

The Mack concern is Allentown's largest industry.

Prison Break Brings Death To Four

Warden Killed, Two Yeggs Dead, Others Wounded

Oklahoma Governor Takes Charge Of Prison Break
At McAlester

DEPUTY SHERIFF
DIES IN GUN FIGHT

(International News Service)
McALESTER, Okla., Aug. 11.—Gov. Leon C. Phillips today assumed personal command of an investigation into a bloody jail break at the Oklahoma state penitentiary yesterday, which left four men dead, including Warden Jess Dunn, and four others wounded.

In addition to Warden Dunn, those killed were Deputy Sheriff Tab Ford, 45, and two convicts, Claude Beavers, 36, leader of the desperate break, and Roy McGee, 28.

Convict May Die
Another convict, William Anderson, 36, was so seriously wounded he was not expected to live. Also wounded were Murray Ferriss, 45, prison electrician, Robert Pollock, prison guard, and Hiram Prather, a convict.

The attempted break began about 11 a. m. Armed with long knives fashioned from old files in the prison workshop, the four desperadoes—Beavers, McGee, Anderson and Prather—jumped upon Warden Dunn and Ferriss as the two men were walking across the prison yard where the convicts had been exercising.

Placing their knives at their captives' throats, the convicts obtained the warden's keys and under threat of death forced Dunn to order the east gate tower guards to throw down their guns.

Armed with the tower guards' shotguns, the desperadoes took Dunn and Ferriss with them as hostages, opened the prison gate and ran to an automobile parked in front of a nearby store. They sped to the outskirts of McAlester.

Meanwhile word of the break had been flashed to Deputy Sheriff Bill Alexander, who was alone in the county jail. Alexander quickly got Ford, whom he found in the street, and they drove to the prison, picking up Pollock.

The three men gave chase to the fleeing convicts and caught up with them just outside the city. Alexander then told this story of what happened:

"I drove across the road and blocked it. When the convict car stopped, I called to the men to get out with their hands in the air. Warden Dunn was in the front seat. He called to me 'let us go by, warden, but the prisoners will have to fall out of the car.'

"Just as I said that, one of the prisoners in the back seat fired. I returned the fire, emptying eight shots from my automobile. There were nearly a dozen shots from the convict car.

"I noticed that Ford was hit in the head and slumped down on the front seat. I reopened fire and the convicts started to leave the car. By this time we were joined by some other officers, and in a few minutes Prather (one of the convicts) came walking toward us with his hands in the air."

Warden Dunn was found dead in the convicts' car. He had been shot three times at close range behind the left ear. Officials expressed the belief the convicts had shot him before they abandoned the car. Ferriss was wounded during the exchange of shots.

large Japanese troop concentrations in the south and heavy British forces in the north, promised to defend herself with everything, "including poison gas."

The cabinet of Marshal Henri Philippe Petain was to meet in Vichy sometime today, possibly to decide the future of the French empire. It was reported that Adolf Hitler has exerted heavy pressure on Vichy to join the axis as an active partner. Government spokesmen in the capital of unoccupied France have denied this, but the German-controlled press of occupied Paris continues to demand full "collaboration" between Vichy and the axis war machine.

Australia Alarmed
Meanwhile, in the far east, excitement increased as the Australian cabinet held an emergency session and heard Prime Minister R. G. Menzies warn the situation in the Pacific is now more dangerous "than ever."

Menzies also warned Japan that Australia is prepared to defend herself with her forces, "including thousands of the Australian imperial force."

In London a Laborite M. P. delivered an attack on Prime Minister Winston Churchill, asserting the head of the British government "wants to be premier and everything else," and stating that "there is no room" in Britain for dictators.

Germans Contend Enemy Planes Are Driven Off Sunday

(International News Service)
BERLIN, Aug. 11.—The high command announced today that enemy planes penetrated Germany from the northeast during the night and attempted to attack Berlin.

(Editor's note: The direction from which the attacking planes approached Berlin indicated they may have been Russian planes.)

The official German announcement stated the raiders were forced to turn back by anti-aircraft fire and that the raid was entirely ineffective.

(Editor's note: London newspapers opened a campaign today for "shuttle bombing" of Berlin by the R.A.F. and the Red Air Force.

The papers said a program of this kind is now feasible because of the success of American-built bombers which are capable of operating at extreme altitudes.

It was suggested the R.A.F. use these machines for stratosphere daylight attacks on Berlin while the Soviet planes could raid the German capital at night.)

planes attempted to carry out mass raids on Moscow but they were dispersed by night fighters and anti-aircraft batteries.

This account said individual planes which broke through the city's defenses dropped high explosives and incendiaries that caused several fires in dwellings and killed and injured "some" persons.

Tass reiterated that no military objectives were named.

No losses were suffered among Russian night fighters that fought off the German raiders, it was claimed.

Admit 2 Advances
Meanwhile, the Russian high command in a war communique admitted two new German advances—one toward the Ukrainian communications center at Uman after a drive around Kiev, and the other in the Soltsi region 120 miles from Leningrad on the northern wing of the front.

The German drive in the Ukraine appeared aimed at the strategic Black sea port of Odessa.

"Stubborn" fighting was announced on the Smolensk-Belyaya-Tserkov, Soltsi, Kholm and Uman sectors of the front.

The war bulletin added that on Saturday Russian planes shot down 45 German aircraft while only 25 Soviet machines were lost.

During Saturday night's air raid on Moscow, it was added, 10 German planes were shot down, instead of only eight as previously announced.

Five German reconnaissance planes were destroyed Saturday over the Moscow civil defense zone, the communique said.

JAMES MAY VETO BIG TRUCK BILL

er major measures still remaining to be acted upon included the omnibus motor vehicle bill, the untariffed sales act, the $8,943,350 appropriation for state-aided homes and hospitals and an $11,000,000 supplement to the $179,000,000 general appropriations bill.

The untariffed sales act appeared to stand a good chance of being approved, while the hospital and home appropriation was expected to be reduced somewhat. The supplementary general appropriation bill was believed to contain a sum previously agreed upon by Democratic and Republican leaders.

The omnibus motor vehicle bill contained a provision which may impel the governor to veto it, although it has many other worthwhile features. Under the new act, state motor police would be forced henceforth to use only white cars for traffic control. At present both black and white cars are used.

33 Yet Unsigned
The governor approached the final stretch on bill-signing with 254 bills acted upon and 45 still to go. Of the 461 bills he has acted upon since the legislature convened on January 7, fifty-four were vetoed.

Militating against approval of the big truck bill which increased from 39,000 to 42,600 pounds the weight of trucks permitted on the state highways is the opposition of Secretary of Highways, I. Lamont Hughes, who declared the heavier trucks would endanger the roads. Approval of the measure would indicate a lack of confidence by the governor in his cabinet officers.

their rmed forces, but would have an important psychological effect on the entire Free French movement, especially in France proper.

Would Encourage French
Because of its present dependency on Britain for war supplies, the Free French movement is regarded in the Marshall Islands where the French have been under Vichy rule as a tool of the British. The Free French leaders believed that direct American aid would change that feeling and might encourage considerable numbers of General Maxime Weygand's forces in North Africa to come over to their movement.

Fighter and bomber planes, tanks, machine-guns and ammunition are among the chief supplies the Free French would like to receive direct from this country under the lease-lend act.

Meanwhile, reports received in official Washington quarters indicate Germany is making headway in "selling" the French leaders and people in both the occupied and unoccupied regions of France on the danger of communism and the necessity of supporting the Nazi war against Soviet Russia.

Nazi agents are said to be spreading the word far and wide among Catholics in France that Great Britain must be defeated because Russia otherwise will share in the triumph over Germany and communism will sweep not only that country but France.

FAITH
A LITTLE COMMON SENSE
As everyone expected, the closing of gasoline stations, did not stop the sale of gasoline, as anyone would know that people who wanted gasoline would have the whole day to purchase same. If they want to conserve gasoline, why don't they take all cars off the road at 11 o'clock at night, except those that are a case of necessity. If cars don't run, they won't burn gasoline.
This would also help to close up some of the hell-holes that are in the city and country, run under the protection of the law, which is ruining the lives of a lot of our young people today.
Figure this one out.—Raise the price of bread, which we suppose is still made out of wheat, then fine the farmer for raising this wheat. This brings back to our memory a thing that now seems unbelievable, of the time when we killed little pigs and plowed down cotton, in order to raise the prices.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

READING TO CHILD VALUABLE.

Nothing else in this column, in my books or from the platform, has had so much of the spirit of the crusader as my efforts for their babies and young children. It's almost like a religion with me. So you can imagine my satisfaction in learning that so many parents who read this column are reading to their children who are too young to go to school, judging from the number of requests for selected list of books for that purpose.

Numerous public libraries are emulating the first world-famous Mother's Room of the Youngstown, Ohio, Public Library, whose purpose is to stimulate and guide mothers in reading to their infants at home, by establishing similar departments. The Supervisor of School Libraries, of a State Department of Education, writes:

"Please send me your list of books to be read to children from the ages of two to six. It is surprising the interest we find among parents in reading for the pre-school years."

Demand Increasing

Similar requests have been received from numerous local libraries. I foresee the day when practically every public library, whether it has a Mother's Room or not, will have to make ready to meet increasing demands by parents who wish to borrow books from which to read to their little children at home.

From the biographies and autobiographies of great men and women who lived a hundred or more years ago, you learn that they were read to in infancy by their parents. Gradually that custom almost wholly disappeared. But, like other good things abandoned for years, reading to babies and young children in the home would have come back eventually, whether any one had advocated its return or not.

Keeps Up Crusade

Nevertheless, I like to think I have had a part in speeding its return, for I have been advocating it since 1915. In 1925 I reported some of the results of reading to the Meyers babies in my first book, "The Learner and His Attitude," and in books and magazine articles since then I have continued the crusade.

Readers of this column know that I try never to let them forget about the values involved—cultivating early, lasting love of books and reading, promoting reading readiness, ease and forcefulness of expression, stimulating creation and invention, building habits of concentration, fostering child-parent comradeship, making youngsters happy.

Please don't forget to enclose a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp, when you write me at 235 East 45th Street, New York, City, for a selected list of books to read to the baby and young child.

Solving Parent Problems

Q. I have a child who will begin school in September. How may I prepare him well?

A. Make sure he has been carefully checked by your doctor and dentist, has been vaccinated against small pox, and inoculated against diphtheria. Also check with your doctor on his diet, hours of sleep and the like. Read to him daily during the summer or have an older child do so. See that he plays out of doors a great deal with other children his age, settling his own quarrels and fighting his own battles. Be sure he learns to respect property in the neighborhood and learns to respect the rights of other people everywhere.

What Noted People Say

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON—Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau asks for lowering of personal exemptions and broadening of base in tax bill: "Our tax program has not kept pace with the defense program. We are still thinking too much of helping this group or that to escape its share of the burden."

PATERSON, N. J.—William S. Knudsen, director of the office of production management, makes a prediction: "The country will reach its peak in national defense production in the summer or fall of 1942."

WASHINGTON—Alexander McKeown, president of the American Federation of Hosiery Workers, foresees women replacing silk stockings with solid color hose. "Green, brown, and some vivid shades will be the thing. The boarders are buying shades that will be as out of date as yesterday's newspaper."

PROVIDENCE, R. I.—Hugh R. Wilson, former U. S. ambassador to Germany, calls for an honest declaration of aims by those leaders determining the nation's future: "Only when our leaders take us thoroughly into their confidence can we in response give our thorough confidence to them."

OLD SAYINGS

Dear Nor Easter: Here are some old Missouri sayings I heard when I was a boy:

"Say! Say yourself, your mouth's open." "Hey there! Look back and see how far you've gone." "What's the matter? No matter at all; it's fresh cut." "Where the woodbine twine?" "The appizit-tic."

EYE EXERCISE

I met an old friend walking along like a youth while the last time I saw him he had dark glasses and a cane and seemed none too sure where he was walking. I asked him for an explanation of the change. This is what he said:

"My oculist told me that my eyes were getting very bad and that I should give them some exercises which he showed me, and which made you roll them from side to side and up and down to equalize the circulation. I tried them at home but it was tiresome, and now I just stroll around the busy streets looking at things, and thanks to the stylists of ladies' clothes and short skirts my eyesight is perfect. I understand skirts will be made shorter next season." The rascal!

This may cheer anyone who enjoys working. A leading physician says it is impossible for a person to worry himself to death.

WHATEVER BECAME OF RUDOLPH HESS?

Whatever became of Rudolf Hess? Does he now favor Nazi or Red? What does he think of E. D. R. Colonel Knox and his "shootin' war"? Hearing Big Ben as it tolls the hour?

Is he at peace in the countryside. Down where the swans of Avon ride? Or is he sleeping in old Westminster By the tomb of some famous man—or spinster?

Is he alive or is he dead? Does he now favor Nazi or Red? What does he think of E. D. R. Colonel Knox and his "shootin' war"? I'm very curious. I here confess: Whatever became of Rudolf Hess?

Good Taste

By W. B. Pleasant Office

"Did you ever meet up with the type of person who seems to derive no end of joy from your minor misfortunes—the kind who, for instance, thinks it is funny when you fall down and tear your new sheer stockings? Perhaps they don't really think it's funny but why then do they laugh? I meet them frequently. What do you say?"—Peggie.

Answer: I can be downright verbose on this subject. So stop me should I rave on too long. There are two types of these chronic laughers. The first is the kind who really enjoys the misfortune of others. Perhaps it is uncontrolled glee because misfortune struck others and not themselves. Whatever the cause, they actually look at the victim with sadistic pleasure if she should fall and ruin her new stockings or be splashed furiously by a passing motorist, neither of which is a laughing matter. The second is the type completely innocent of malice but totally lacking in pose, self-assurance or dignity. Whenever something happens and she can't decide what to do or say, she laughs semi-hysterically. It breaks an uncomfortable silence, she thinks—if she really thinks at all. She is more to be pitied than scorned. For she knows no better. There isn't anything you can do about this unfortunate situation—other than either avoid these two pestiferous types or watch your step!

Question: I live in a second-floor apartment, the stairway to which is very narrow. When I come in with guests, should I go ahead of them to shut the door or should I follow my guests up the stairs?—T. Y.

Answer: You should allow your guests to precede you, telling them which way to go, if necessary. You should never rush in, leaving your guests to close the door and find their way around.

Question: Will you kindly tell me if it is proper to tip nurses. If so, how much? I shall be in the hospital about two weeks.—Ann.

Answer: If you mean, give a nurse a gratuity every time she performs some service—no, definitely. However, many patients do give their private nurse a gift when they leave the hospital. Sometimes, it is money and sometimes a personal item. Usually, everything is done on a strictly business basis and the nurse receives only her specified rate for services rendered.

FAMILIAR FOLKS—THE UNDERTAKER

He used to be a sad faced guy with visage like a Quaker, who sold home furnishings and was—the village undertaker. In black frock coat and tall pig hat, he solemnly imparted consoling thoughts to the bereaved about the now departed.

But recently there's been a change in mien and in position. Today our friend's a cheery gent who calls himself mortician. His local pride is unexcelled. He's always gay and merry. You'd never guess, if you weren't told, he runs a mortuary.

He sponsors all the high school plays, leads civic clubs in singing, outfits the band with uniforms, no end of joy he's bringing.

There's just one fly that's in his soup. It grieves him, so it's said, his best friend will not trade with him until that friend is dead.

About the only time some crooks want to be rushed to a jail is when a mob is after them to hang them.

"Oh thank your honour," says Pat, "the devil a harm then for the new copper tea-kettle's at the bottom of the well!"

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—Some few things are apparent in connection with the already-beginning activities of President Roosevelt's new economic defense board.

One thing is that the board's principal job, while the war lasts, will be to out-economize the Axis in Latin America. The rest of the world either is included in the Axis or is more or less (mostly more) against it. The democracies don't need any of the board's economic missionary work; their faith's the same as ours right now. As for the Axis countries, they'll take none of our kind of economic medicine, anyway, until it's injected into 'em forcibly. But good economic management in Latin America should be well worth while—solidify our relations with the friends we've got there and win over the element that's a bit clammy toward us yet.

Another thing's obvious. Just at present the defense board is really a defense board. It's an offense board—against the Axis. When the war's over, however, defense will be the right word for it. We (the United States) will want to hang onto whatever Latin-American economic gains we've made, on into perpetuity.

Before the last war Europe's economic status was about 95 per cent to 5 per cent. The war, therefore, swung the southern republics trade strongly in our direction. They had to do business with us or nobody. If we had a competent economic board then, to make our neighbors definitely like us commercially, they'd have been our commercial friends permanently. We didn't have one, though.

Consequently, as soon as the conflict was over, they flopped economically back to Europe in short order. This time it'll be up to our board to make hay while the war-time sun shines and then to keep on making the same hay in the same hayfield afterward. And it's got to be the kind of hay that's mutually profitable to us and our western hemispherical neighbors.

Wallace Is Main Spring

A third thing is evident. The new board, plainly, is going to consist principally of Vice President Henry A. Wallace. Serving with him are the heads of the state, treasury, war, navy, commerce and justice departments but they're too busy with their own departmental work to give much attention to economic defense board duties. The vice president, though, has sufficient leisure for plenty of supplementary assignments. For the special one Henry Wallace is a first class selection, too. He's specialized on Latin America, speaks excellent Spanish and has the right temperament.

Henry's chief assistant is the board's executive director, Winfield W. Riefler. Winfield doesn't know much of Latin America, but he's an able economist and this is an economic board. Pan-American problems are largely agricultural, and Henry Wallace was secretary of agriculture. War and navy departmental considerations enter into the equation just now, but won't figure much when peace is restored. Commerce is an important item, as are treasury relations with the Axis countries so, wars or no wars. What the justice department has to do with the situation isn't so obvious. Still its inclusion in the lineup is harmless.

To be sure, war, navy, commerce and treasury secretaries and Acting Attorney General Biddle aren't Latin-American experts, but Henry Wallace is. The state department naturally is diplomatically up to (Continued On Page Five)

Happigrams

By ERICH BRANDEIS

Recently a commission merchant, Paul A. Barth, died in New York. A bachelor, he left his entire estate of $50,000 in trust for "some poor boy or girl." It is up to the executor to find that boy or girl.

In announcing the bequest, the executor wrote: "He was always doing good for somebody."

"Sometimes he would go walking in the poor districts of any city he visited to distribute money without even being asked."

"If he found a drunkard in the gutter, he would sober him up. If he met a homeless man who was cold and hungry, he would see that he was fed and provided for."

"Charity was an obsession with him. He gave away more than he earned many times. He was always interested in the poor."

Look at any costly monument you can find. Read any success book or story that has ever been written.

And you will find no finer epitaph than this!

Hints On Etiquette

If you are planning to give a gift for a wedding anniversary, don't think you must confine it to an article made of material that is traditional with that particular number of years. For instance, if it is a 10-year anniversary you needn't confine your gift to tin. It can be anything that you desire to give or can afford.

Words Of Wisdom

Happy the man to whom heaven has given a morsel of bread without laying him under the obligation of thanking any other for it than heaven itself.—Cervantes.

The World and the Mud Puddles

A DANGEROUS PRECEDENT

The Interstate Commerce commission has refused the application of the Colorado & Southern Railway to lease the Fort Worth & Denver City and Wichita Valley Railways by a 7-to-4 decision. The reason for the decision, as given by the commission, was that the position of the displaced workers would be "uncertain."

This might be regarded as a sumptuary decision, and sumptuary laws and sumptuary decisions are not pleasant reading for American citizens. If this action was extended to a similar regulation for all consolidations of capital, it would be just too bad, but in this particular case the decision is a commendable one. It is taking upon itself to determine that the Colorado & Southern Railway can go ahead and operate in definitely without a failure and likewise, that the Fort Worth & Denver City and Wichita Railways are able to do the same.

I know nothing about the finances of these two railroads, but supposing one of them fails, absolutely, and goes out of business. What would become of the employees? While the consolidations, the Colorado & Southern Railway can operate the whole system so economically that it may be able to survive.

It is pretty difficult today for railroads to pay their overhead. Competition of trucks and passenger buses, like the Greyhound, has cut into the revenues of the railroads tremendously. State taxes and national taxes, state regulations and national regulations regarding hours, pay, the number of train crews, the length of freight trains and all that, have placed increased burdens upon the shoulders of the officers, managers and directors of railroads. There is a vast difference between the pay of a railroad engineer and the driver of a truck. Transcontinental trucks only need one driver and an assistant. The license paid for the operation of trucks are negligible compared to the cost of maintenance of way by railroads.

However, aside from all this, if this principle is aimed to protect displaced workmen by reason of consolidations in business, what is to prevent a law being passed by Congress to forbid all consolidations displacing labor, unless some provision is made for the care of the displaced workmen?

This decision of the Interstate Commerce commission may be a far-reaching one, inasmuch as the administration in Washington, at least, shows unmistakably that it is pledged to give its unequalled support to labor and capital can go hang.

MEN AND NATURAL THINGS

Far away from city street
Clover holds an incense sweet.
Far away from pavements cold
Very bright is marigold.
And in fields from cities far
Gayer brown-eyed Susans are!

Far away from building blocks
Wild and lovely grows the phlox.
And for miles the Queen Anne's lace
Edges winding roads with grace.
Far away from noise and rush
Sing the oriole and thrush.

Far away from "sell and buy"
And the city's hue and cry
And the endless tasks to do,
Men, I'm sure, are better, too;
Gentler, kinder, more content,
More like men their Maker meant.

Watch them, know them, as they
Toil
Nearer to the fruitful soil,
Men of good field and stream,
Closer to God's purpose seem,
Far more patient than are we
Of the city's husbandry.

Jackie Coogan Is Married Saturday For Second Time

Private Coogan Weds Young San Francisco Girl In Nevada Over Week-End

(International News Service)
FORT ORD, Cal., Aug. 11.—Jackie Coogan, once "the kid" of the movies but now Private Coogan of the United States army, was to report back to barracks at Fort Ord today, terminating a one-day honeymoon with Flower Parry, 19-year-old Hollywood girl.

Coogan and Miss Parry took both the movie colony and Coogan's soldier pay at Fort Ord by complete surprise with their elopement to Gardnerville, Nev., early yesterday, where they were married by a justice of the peace.

Coogan, now 26 years old, is assigned as a truck driver with the seventh anti-tank battalion. He left Fort Ord Saturday noon on the usual week-end pass, saying he was going to "meet a girl" in San Francisco.

He and Miss Parry arrived in Reno too late Saturday night to obtain a marriage license and finally got one in nearby Minden. Then they drove to Gardnerville, where they routed Justice of the Peace James E. Hickey from his bed at two a. m. to perform the ceremony. Witnesses were Virginia Langdon, daughter of Screen Comedian Harry Langdon, and Mrs. Hickey, the justice's wife.

Coogan was divorced from Actress Betty Grable in Los Angeles two years ago. It was Miss Parry's first marriage.

FINED $10 BECAUSE OF DISORDERLY CONDUCT

Policeman Fleeger arrested a young man who gave the name of Robert L. McConahy, 14½ Apple Way, at three a. m. Sunday in an alley running off Long avenue on charges of drunkenness and disorderly conduct. The young man allegedly was sleeping in his car. The motor was running. Fleeger could not open the locked window of the car and when he lifted the hood to remove the distributor so the youth couldn't drive, McConahy assertedly became disorderly, hence his arrest. He was fined $10 by Mayor Charles B. Mayne in police court yesterday.

AROUND CITY HALL

When city council met today in council chambers, Municipal Building, Solicitor Robert McKinney White read to council the orders of the Public Utilities Commission relative to the proposed change from street cars to motor buses. The company assumed responsibility for the removal of rails and other equipment prior to May, 1942. It is anticipated buses will be operating here in late October or early November unless, of course, the priority rights for the buses should be interfered with because of national defense.

When council convened this morning in the Municipal Building, Solicitor Robert McKinney White recommended the passage of a resolution which permits the city treasurer to levy on the personal property of tenants who occupy properties upon which rent is collected but the taxes are not being paid. In such event it is anticipated, according to White, the tenants will pay the rent to the city, which will be applied as taxes. There are several such instances as this being practiced here. White reported Finance Director J. L. Fink introduced the resolution, which passed. Delinquent Tax Collector Paul Marakas will serve the levy notices.

City of New Castle has received $3,559.08 from the foreign fire insurance premium paid here, which will be divided between two firemen organizations. Council today approved Finance Director J. L. Fink's certification of a contract between the city and J. R. Rick Motor Car company for a new Dodge for police, at a net cost of $1,040. There were only six cases of contagion here last month, according to city health authorities.

SEVENTH WARD NEWS

Residents See Need For Walks On Atlantic Ave.

Suggest That Sidewalks Be Included In Road Widening Project Here

Residents of Atlantic avenue believe that there is an urgent need for sidewalks along the road in that district, at the present time, and suggestions have been heard to the effect that walks could undoubtedly be included in the proposed road widening project.

Numerous residents have voiced their opinion as to need of walks in view of the fact that accidents have been numerous along this section of Atlantic avenue.

The highway is well travelled, both by automobiles and pedestrians. Many persons residing in the Oakland district have no other way to get to New Castle than to walk along Atlantic avenue.

At night, residents point out, it is difficult for motorists to see persons walking along the road, and the addition of a sidewalk, of standard size, along one side of the highway would help greatly to cut down the fatalities.

Flock Of Waxwings Visit Scout Camp

While Nick Cassella, of West Winter avenue, a lover of wildlife, was attending the Boy Scout camp recently, along Slippery Rock Creek, he saw one of the highlights of the camping season.

He informed Owen Fox that it was that of seeing and watching a flock of cedar waxwings feeding among the boughs of the hemlocks, that grow in that vicinity. Mr. Cassella classes these birds among the aristocrats of the bird world.

The body coloring, of dark steelish grey or mauve, of the cedar waxwing is not so brilliant, but the way in which that bit of blended color was placed on that bird's wing, shows the touch of the Great Creator's Hand. The appearance of the body feathers of this bird resembles the texture of the finest plush.

These birds are somewhat larger in size than the house sparrow, and migrate to warmer climate, late in the fall.

New Dealers Predict Radical Cabinet Shakeup

President Wants Cabinet Changed To 'War Footing'

Rumor Has Knudsen, Hillman, Perkins, Stimson And LaGuardia On Way Out

MAY SHIFT DOUGLAS FROM SUPREME COURT

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—High New Dealers today predict that President Roosevelt will place his administration on a "war footing" through a major reorganization of his cabinet and national defense command shortly after he returns from vacationing in northeastern waters.

For Preparedness

The president proposes this shakeup New Dealers say, for the purpose of preparing his administration for any eventuality, rather than with any specific idea of taking the United States into war either in Europe or the Orient.

Mr. Roosevelt's confidants picture him as displeased with the present tempo of American rearmament and is determined to increase its rate immediately in order to meet the new demands for American war materials due to the pledge of assistance to Russia on top of the present requirements of the aid to Britain program.

While a number of high New Dealers forecast the reorganization there is no general agreement among the president's advisers on the identity of the axe victims or their successors. Nearly all say several cabinet heads will fall. Quite a few add that the Office of Production Management is due for a major shakeup with a single production manager replacing the present dual control, exercised by William S. Knudsen and Sidney Hillman.

New Department
One highly placed New Dealer, on intimate terms with the president, predicted the major change in the present rearmament setup would be creation of a department of aviation with presidential approval. This informant said an outstanding aviation authority—but not Charles A. Lindbergh—would be named secretary of aviation with cabinet status to combine all military and civil aviation administrations in a single unit.

Another friend of the president forecast these changes:

OPM: Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas to replace Knudsen and Hillman.

Attorney general: Francis Biddle, now acting attorney general, to be promoted to the cabinet.

Secretary of war: Undersecretary Robert P. Patterson to replace Secretary Henry L. Stimson.

Secretary of labor: Daniel W. Tracy, now assistant secretary, and an AFL man, to replace Miss Frances Perkins.

Director of civilian defense: Col. William J. Donovan, now "federal coordinator of information," to replace Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia of New York while combining the two agencies into a single organization.

Another prominent presidential adviser agreed that there will be changes in these posts, but forecast appointment of an entirely different list of successors.

Vet Will Discuss Freedom Of Press

Frank T. Sargeant Will Talk In Speak Up For Democracy Series

Those who would destroy liberty direct their first assaults upon the freedom of the press, declares F. T. Sargeant, who will discuss the importance of a free press in the ninth of a monthly series of "Speak Up For Democracy" talks at 7:30 p. m. Monday, August 11.

Speaking as a member of Neshannock Post No. 315, Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States, Mr. Sargeant will take for his theme the 26th anniversary of the acquisition of Peter Zenger, whose editorial attacks upon Governor Cosby of New York in 1734, marked the first court test on freedom of the press in the American colonies before the Declaration of Independence was adopted.

Peter Zenger, a German immigrant, was publisher of the "New York Weekly Journal." His editorials criticized the tyrannical rule of the New York governor who ordered Zenger jailed and tried on the charge of "seditious libel." Andrew Hamilton, the greatest lawyer in the colonies, volunteered to defend Zenger and his vigorous appeal for the protection of a free press was one of the first voices heard in America in defense of the right to print the truth.

(International News Service)

Many Gold Finches At Cascade Park

At Gaston Park on Saturday afternoon, about 15 goldfinches were enjoying themselves on some ripening elderberries. From there they flew to a wild cherry tree, for a feed there.

The plumage of these birds is of black and yellow, is beautiful, and at its best this time of the year.

The older generation of folks know these birds as thistle birds. Among all the bird clan, each specie have their own particular trait. Goldfinches are especially fond of the seed found in the white downy ball of the ripened dandelion flower; also among its foods are the ripened thistle, lettuce, and cosmos seed.

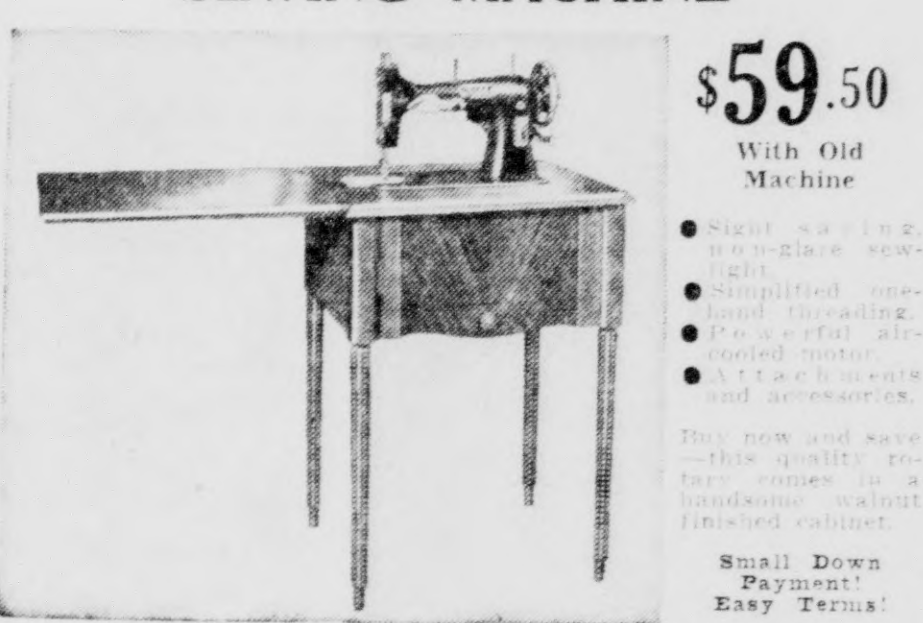

These birds are not of the hibernating kind; they stay with us throughout the year. At the first appearance of frost this brilliant colored plumage commences to fade, and changes its color to a dark brown, thus in the cold weather, these beautiful birds of the previous summer, are mistaken for house sparrows, when they appear in our back yards.

Cardinals Whip Pirates Twice

Sunday Double-Header In St. Louis Proves Tough On Pittsburgh

YANKS WIN TWO, RACE ABOUT OVER

By LAWTON CARVER

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—The big fellow with the round, red face that looks like a ripe tomato stepped up to the plate in the eighth inning clutch play and won a ball game to the eternal jubilation of New York Giant fans. Thus today, these fans are spared the humiliation of admitting with bowed head and averted gaze that their Giants lost a Sabbath double-header to these spiritless, crushed urchins of baseball, the Philadelphia Phillies.

The man with the power-laden bat was none other than your old pal Gabby Hartnett, who made his second home run of the year as a Giant, a winning blow in the first game. One was on and the final score was 5 to 4 whereupon without a home from Gabby the Giants dropped the nightcap, 4 to 3. And there went the Giants another step nearer the nethermost depths of the National League cellar.

Pirates Drop Two

Still the Giants did win one of the two games from the Phillies and that should be enough to cause a field day around here from the way they have been going.

Elsewhere in the circuit, the Brooklyn Dodgers were trouncing the Boston Braves, 14 to 4 and 4 to 0, and the St. Louis Cardinals were downing the Pittsburgh Pirates, 3 to 2 and 4 to 2 to leave the Dodgers a bare three percentage points in the lead. The veteran Fred Fitzsimmons pitched the Dodgers shutout in a snapper.

In the day's other game in the circuit, the Cincinnati Reds beat the Chicago Cubs, 3 to 1.

Yanks Win Two

The American League race again took on the appearance of a New York run-away by virtue of their 11 to 2 and 4 to 1 victories over the Philadelphia Athletics coupled with the second place Cleveland Indians' twin defeat by the Chicago White Sox, 5 to 2 and 2 to 1.

Marius Russo and Arlet Donald pitched the Yankee victories, while Ted Lyons and Thornton Lee beat Al Smith and Jim Bagby in the White Sox-Indian double set.

All of which put the Yankees 14 games in front, and to make their path all the easier the third place Boston Red Sox could get no better than an even split, beating Washington's Senators 7 to 6 then losing 8 to 2.

The St. Louis Browns turned back the Detroit Tigers, 7 to 3.

Elders To Play Pittsburgh Team

The Elder A. C. baseball team will bring a good attraction to Marshall Field on Friday night in the Wildwood Coal team of Pittsburgh. The game will start at 5:30 o'clock.

The Wildwood are one of the leading semi-pro teams in the Pittsburgh district and come here highly rated. Manager Joe O'Leary will have his three fine hurlers—Leroy Anderson, Carl Witherow and Dory Gunnert on hand to try and upset the Pittsburghers.

It was also announced that the famous Homestead Grays will play the Elders on Thursday, August 28, instead of the 27th as originally announced. The Homestead Grays asked for the change in dates.

MAY CHANGE PLAN

COLUMBUS—American Association headquarters report that next year's all-star game may be played between nines from east and west. The present plan pairs the club leading the league on a particular set date against the pick of the league.

HARDESTY WINS FOR BESSEMER

J. Pepe Outpitches Hardesty But Hillville Fails, 9 To 2

Hardesty, a jinx to Hillville came through again for Bessemer Sunday at Bessemer and Hillville was defeated, 9 to 2. Hillville, a strongly braced club, expected to beat their hoodoo Sunday. In fact, the whole town was rooting for a victory, but J. Pepe was the victim.

Pepe struck out nine, passed only one and permitted 11 hits. Hardesty struck out three less, passed four and was hit also 11 times, yet won. Anderson was the star at bat, poling a home run and a triple, with Pelto getting three singles for Bessemer.

Despite the defeat Hillville yet retains the leadership of the Lawrence County loop by one game. Bessemer is in second place, Ellwood City is in third place and Wampum fourth.

The games carded for Wednesday are: Bessemer at Ellwood City and Hillville at Wampum.

The box score of the Bessemer-Hillville game:

SPORTS WORLD RAMBLINGS

Monday sports wash—

Back in 1922, an eight-year-old Croton youth started toying golf balls at the New Castle Field club. Like all caddies, the youngster spent his idle moments swinging the clubs. Gradually, he became a golf find. Right there and then he vowed to make the link game his career.

Along about 1928, the lad's parents moved to Detroit. In the Motor city, the local youth continued his caddy activities and daily practices. A likable lad, blessed with perseverance, ambition and earnestness, the young man won the friendship of the pro at the Detroit County Club.

Thus was born a genuine friendship that melted as the years passed by. The pro gladly imparted with his knowledge of golf. The protegee quickly grasped the teachings of his tutor. The localite later competed in many tournaments around Detroit and soon became a streamlined performer. Today, the man—Faust Bianco—is assistant pro of the swanky country club, a position he has held for several years.

RIPPLE HITTING HARD

ROCHESTER — Jimmy Ripple, one of the Cincinnati world series heroes, is slapping the pill mercilessly. Ripple, playing with Rochester of the International League, is clubbing above the .350 mark.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS LAND

Led by Defending Champion Dick Shaughnessy of Deadham, Mass., 10 marksmen won a perfect 100-target score in the skeet shot at Indianapolis. Vic Seixas of Philadelphia is favored to take the junior crown in the national tennis tournament at Culver, Ind.

Mrs. Albert Sabath's Alab, which she bought for a lowly $700 and who already has won $32,095, is the favorite to capture the Juvenile stakes at Washington park.

C. H. Poulton of San Antonio, Texas, is the new national all-guise skeet champion. He took the annual tournament at Indianapolis yesterday in a shoot-off with Alex Kerr of Beverly Hills, Calif., after both had broken 250 straight targets in the regular year. Kerr missed his one hundred fifty-fifth extra target but Poulton ran his string to 425.

Mike Ferrara has resigned as football coach at Oil City High. Pat Tobin, 24, right-hand twirler for Little Rock has been signed by the As to replace Chubby Dean, southpaw, reclaimed by the Cleveland Indians.

There's a nifty card of battlers at Pittsburgh tonight, as follows: Mike Jeffra vs Mike Raffa; Harry Boso vs Lee Savold; Tommy Yarov vs Freddie Lenn and Otto Blackwell vs Johnny Jones.

The Hawaiian Isle wrapped up a third water title yesterday at St. Louis. Kiyoshi Nakama, defending champion took the 8-meter race in 10:02, shaving eight-tenths of a second from the record of Ralph Farnagan of Miami, set in 1935. Jose Bamore took the 300-meter individual relay in 3:56.9, one and one-tenth second faster than Adolph Klefer's 1940 mark.

Whirlaway is favored to win Saturday's Travers Stakes at Saratoga as his nearest rival. Attention has a ruptured blood vessel. The roster for the Eastern All-Star college football team has been completed for the game with the New York Giants. Frank Kovacs and Pauline Betz took the singles honors in the Eastern Grass Courts meet.

The West Pittsburgh Gas House team won a City League game Sunday at the West Pittsburgh field, trimming the Croton A. C. team 5 to 2. Mike Marky did the Gas House twirling and although he was touched for 11 hits, kept them scattered.

West Pittsburgh teed-off on Chiffallo in the second inning for three runs. John Marky and Winters had two hits each for the West Pittsburghers.

It was the seventh win for the Gas House team against five setbacks in the second-half and almost assures them of a playoff at the end of the season.

Four National League pitchers, who are still twirling, each had a great season in which he led the loop in win-loss percentage and in earned run averages. Charlie Root came through in 1929; Lonnie Warneke in 1932; Carl Hubbell in 1936 and Bill Lee in 1938.

ANOTHER COBB

In 1907, Ty Cobb won his first American league batting title. He was 20. Pete Reiser, Brooklyn's sensational rookie, is a good prospect to cop the National League swatting title. Should he succeed, he will rank as the youngest since Cobb.

Pasadena May Use Women As Traffic Guards

(International News Service)
SACRAMENTO, Cal. — Abolishment of the state relief administration payrolls and the development of national defense has caused Pasadena leaders to consider women for traffic guard duty at school crossings.

A test is being made in cooperation with Sheriff Eugene Biscailuz at an intersection with a woman acting as a crossing guard. Under plans recommended by the parent-teacher association and approved by the Pasadena Board of Supervisors, male school crossing guards would be replaced by women wearing distinctive uniforms on less congested school intersections. This plan, they said, would permit the men to be released for more productive pursuits in behalf of national defense.

County Manager Wayne R. Allen said the proposal is meritorious and urged that it be given further tests.

Wild Blackberry Crop Large In State

(Special To The News)
HARRISBURG, Aug. 11.—An unusually large crop of wild blackberries in the forests of Pennsylvania this year is reported by the foresters in the Department of Forests and Waters. Thousands of persons gather these berries each year which are used in many ways.

Deputy Secretary, Chas. E. Baer states that no permits are necessary for picking blackberries on the State Forests. The only requirement is that berry pickers should be careful with fire.

One of the Forest Rangers reports that in his twenty-three years experience he had never seen the bushes so heavily laden with berries.

WILL START VOTE ON EXTENSION ACT

guardsmen to two and one half years instead of one would be passed by the house by Tuesday night, other administration leaders held that the lower chamber would not approve the 18 months extension.

Members said the best forecast seemed to be that the house would approve a bill calling for six months, or perhaps a year extension of selective service. A compromise time limit then would have to be worked out by conferees representing both the senate and the house.

The first real showdown on the administration's bill in the house was slated to come when non-interventionist members of the Military Affairs Committee start introducing their amendments to the measure probably tomorrow.

The first of the amendments to be offered would strike from the bill a declaration that the national interest is imperiled; the second would delete sections pertaining to draftees, leaving the service extension applicable only to National Guardsmen and reserve officers; a third would strike out a section which removes the existing limit of 900,000 on the number of draftees which may be in service.

Avalanche Of Slogans To Descend On Nation

By JACK VINCENT
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—The United States is destined to become a nation of slogans and buttons under plans being developed today by national defense officials. More than 1,500,000 large posters with defense slogans such as "There is no such thing as a free lunch" and "Keep 'em flying" are to be circulated throughout the country.

Full scope of the program is being disclosed for the first time after OPM Director William S. Kriden sent all factories desiring more than 50 percent of their facilities to defense orders copies of a billfold sign they can erect in front of their plants.

The sign says "defense plant—part of the arsenal of democracy." The signs are to be six by four feet in size.

Privately defense officials are greatly dissatisfied because of what they say is lack of enthusiasm for the "all out defense" drive. Something of this is reflected in a letter which Kriden sent along with copies of the "arsenal of democracy" sign. His letter says:

"I feel sure that every defense worker—whether in management or labor—will feel a closer personal relationship with the defense effort through display of this identification."

A special office has been set up within the office of emergency management to think up slogans and design posters. So far five have been produced. They read: "America's Answer—Production," "Keep 'em flying," "Keep 'em rolling," "Time is Short—Arm for Defense." More than 40,000 copies of each have been printed and new slogans coming up may be printed at the rate of 100,000 a month or at the rate of nearly 2,000,000 a year.

Meanwhile, the office of civilian defense is preparing to enroll thousands of volunteer workers from 15 to 60 to aid in the defense program. They will serve as auxiliary firemen, airplane watchers, Red Cross workers and messengers. Boys and girls from 15 to 20 are to be enrolled as messengers. There are 18 different divisions for job-teen workers and every worker will be given a button or arm band with insignia identifying him.

In addition, it is reported that buttons containing the British victory symbol "V" are being circulated widely in some sections of the nation.

How would you like to have someone hand you a check for $32,703.70? No doubt it wouldn't be hard to take, but as individuals, each person in Lawrence county who pays taxes received a share of the above amount when the state treasurer mailed to County Treasurer Earl R. Wimer, a check for the above amount, the county's share of the liquid fuels tax for the first six months of this year.

The check is now on deposit to the account of the county in a local bank, helping to swell the exchequer. It will go a long way to help pay for county road and bridge improvements.

Quite a celebration was indulged in at the court house Saturday morning, when the entire wedding party of Mr. and Mrs. Armand Ascone visited the court house following the ceremony, where they were greeted by friends and given a rousing sendoff. Needless to say many of the staid old court house attaches slyly took advantage of the opportunity to kiss such a charming bride as Mrs. Ascone. She was formerly Victoria Pagley, and has been employed in the county treasurer's office.
